MISS ALEXANDER, assistant teacher of South Edmonton public school, left for Calgary on a visit on Friday's train.

R. JOHNSON, brother of Colin Johnson, trader at the Landing, who arrived from Winnipeg on last train, left for the Landing on Saturday.

The river was frozen clear across at some of the bends on Saturday morning last, but people were crossing in the open water between by means of small boats on Saturday afternoon.

THE hour of Sunday evening service in St. Joachim's church has been changed from 7 o'clock in the evening to 4 o'clock in the afternoon for the convenience of attendants who come from a distance.

OATS have been coming in slowly owing to threshing having been unfinished and awaiting sleighing. No doubt now that threshing is over, sleighing come and the river frozen they will move more rapidly. The price, however, is low and railway rates will have to be still further reduced or they will remain low. At present the price quoted is 20c to 22c. The quality is almost uniformly excellent. Barley is of good size, but very little of it is sufficiently bright in color to be of use for malting. The price quoted is 25c for feed and 35c for malting. Wheat has been coming in more freely than either oats or barley up to date. The price paid is 40c to 48c cash or up to 50c on account. The quality is extra good. Butter is getting scarce at 25c and an advance to 30c for creamery is spoken of. Eggs are now scarce at 25c to 30c, and several barrels have already been imported.

THE Canadian Magazine for November is full, as usual, of varied and interesting contributions, and is well illustrated. Attorney-General Longley, of Nova Scotia, furnishes the second of his papers on Joseph Howe. T. P. Bedard, of Quebec, writes of the social and political life of New France, in the decade 1650-60. Lovers of sport will be pleased with the lengthy article on "Ontario's big game," by James Dickson, a gentleman thoroughly familiar with the northern wilds of the province. David Boyle, after a visit to the scenes of pre-Columbian settlement in Massachusetts, discusses, with much interest to the reader, "Where was Vinland?" the first colony of Scandinavians planted in America. The illustrated articles are: "Land of the Pilgrims," by Allan Eric; "The Round Towers and Irish art," by Fred T. Hodgins, and "Glimpses of Mexican life," by H. S. Grant Macdonald. The Canadian Magazine is published by the Ontario Publishing Co., Ltd., Toronto. $2.50 per annum.

TEACHERS' CONVENTION.

The teachers' convention opened at 10 a. m. on Friday in the Edmonton public school the inspectors J. A. Calder and the following teachers were present: A. M. Campbell, W. G. Wellbourne, Miss L. M. Osborne, and Miss K. Lindsay, Edmonton; Miss Clark South Edmonton, Miss Short, East Edmonton; C. B. Beck, Belmont; Mr. Briggs, Poplar Lake; Mr. Matheson, White Mnd; Mr. Foster, Clover Bar and Miss Timney, Horse Hills; Bishop Pinkham, Rev. A. Macdonald and several other visitors attended. C. B. Beck was elected to the chair.

Mr. Campbell opened the programme with an address on "Written Arithmetic." He spoke of the necessity of teaching the subject and then in detail outlined his method of teaching. A very lively and helpful discussion followed in which nearly everyone present took part.

Mr. Wellbourne's address on "Writing" was very timely. As was pointed out the subject is much neglected in our schools. He strongly denounced the authorized copy books and advocated the adoption of the vertical system of writing.

Miss Osborne's paper on "Seat Work" contained many useful hints on this phase of school room work, especially for primary teachers. She pointed out that disorder in school is mainly due to the fact that the pupils are not given employment while at their seats.

Miss Short followed with a paper on "Geography for Standards 1, 2 and 3." She handled the topic in a masterly way dwelling upon the necessity of laying a proper foundation in the lower standard, for the work in the higher and outlining what she would teach to each of those standards. She indicated the methods and devices she uses in presenting the subject and made a strong plea for the use of the sand board for the teaching of definitions and elementary structural geography.

"Notes from the field" by Inspector Calder was the next item on the programme. In his remarks he followed the headings laid down in the inspector's report to the council of public instruction, viz: buildings, grounds, pupils and teachers, dwelling particularly on the standing of the pupils in the different subjects and noting the now prevalent mistakes in teaching as seen in the schools of Alberta and Western Assiniboia.

Miss Clark followed with an excellent paper on composition in which she described her method of teaching the subject and urged the necessity of devoting more time to oral composition.

Mr. Briggs' paper on "Oral reading" contained many helpful suggestions which if put into practice would result in better work being done on this subject in our schools.

At the close of the programme Bishop Pinkham who was present was called upon to address the convention. He expressed his pleasure at being present and referred to some length to the importance of the teachers' work, pointing out the necessity of thorough teaching based on right principles and drawing special attention to the responsibility of the teachers in moulding the character of those intrusted to their care.

Rev. A. McDonald who was also present throughout the day, spoke of the interest he took in teachers and their work. He stated that since coming to the west he never had the opportunity of attending a teachers' convention, but from what he had seen and heard during the day he was sure that good results must follow such gatherings.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, NOVEMBER 19TH, 1894.

THE BRIDGE.

The telegram received by the board of trade on Friday from the minister of interior, a copy of which appears elsewhere in this issue, came as a surprise, and not a very pleasant one, to the people of Edmonton and surrounding country. From the assurances given by the minister of interior himself when on the spot; from the assurances given to the delegates who visited Ottawa during last session of parliament; from the fact of the government having pledged itself to the construction of the bridge by asking—and receiving—from parliament an appropriation for the purpose; from Mr. Daly's letter to the town council objecting to the BULLETIN's criticism of the vote; from the examinations and enquiries recently made by the public works department; everyone was resting easy in the belief that the government was acting in good faith and that the ice bridge of the coming winter would be succeeded by a substantial government bridge next summer. Mr. Daly's telegram may be taken as a notification that they had better not rest easy until the bridge is built, if they hope to live long enough to see it built. If there was a difference of opinion amongst the townspeople here as to the site, it would be no excuse for postponement of action on the part of the government. Surely the bridge is being built because it is a work of public necessity and for the public advantage, not merely to please a handful of individuals residing in or about the town of Edmonton. And if it is being built for the public good surely the site chosen should be the one which would be the most convenient and generally advantageous to the public, having due regard to cost. These points are decided, or should be decided, by physical features, location of population, trend of trade and other matters of fact, and if the government proposes to ignore these matters of fact for the purpose of pandering to this or that private opinion or interest it is well that the country should know it. The people should know what manner of men are doing their business and how they are doing it. The suggestion that the government is delaying construction on account of local rivalries creates the impression in many minds that the oft spoken of bridge is not a traffic, or a railroad and traffic, but an election bridge. That the bridge is to be kept back to be used as an issue or a bait with which to catch suckers at the approaching elections. If this is the case—and almost anything may be the case now-a-days,—it may be well to inform Mr. Daly and his colleagues beforehand that the best way to secure the votes of the people of this district is to pursue a straightforward course, to show their desire for the development of the country by work and not words, and particularly to make good their promises. People are apt to consider that if a promise made when the government is securely in power is not good, a promise made on the eve of an election, the issue of which is to some extent uncertain, is too gauzy a thing to spend a vote on; and there are a good many votes in this end of the country now.

As a matter of fact there is no conflict amongst the people of this town as to the site. On the contrary they are wonderfully unanimous. When the first bridge survey was made the engineer was officially informed as to the wishes of the town in the matter. No change has occurred in public opinion here as to the site since that time. The site agreed upon is more convenient to the west end of the town than to the east where the majority of the people reside; but as the proposed site is the nearest to the centre that can be secured, having all possible advantages, the people in the eastern or business end are willing to accept it. The easiest way for the government to to find out what the opinion of the town is in the matter would be to agree to the site approved by the town council and thus give the ratepayers the opportunity, in voting on the aid asked, to express their views as to the site.

But as before stated it is not the humor nor even the convenience of the people of the town much less that of a part of the town that should decide the location of the bridge. That should be decided solely on the grounds of general utility to the country at large, always having regard to present convenience and cost. These requisites are fully met by the site chosen by the town and approved by the government engineer as being entirely suitable for the purpose of a bridge. The river in this part of its course flows in a valley something over 200 feet deep and about a mile wide. The river zig zags from side to side of this valley leaving a flat on one side and a cut bank on the other alternately. Three such flats with two cut banks between occupy the front of the town of Edmonton. The upper and lower flats are surrounded by somewhat steep banks while the middle one slopes gently back in its western part giving an excellent natural grade to the river and besides communicates with the upper flat at the site of the H. B. Fort so that the length of both flats, over two miles, besides a creek valley which puts into the upper end of the upper flat, could be utilized if necessary to get a good railroad grade from the level of the river bank in the flat, at the proposed bridge site, near the electric light works. On the south side the banks of the valley at this point are much more steep than on the north side, but the flat on the south side opposite the centre of the town is entered from the south by the large valley of the Mill creek, up the west side of which valley the present road from the lower ferry runs by a very easy grade. The high banks of the river at Edmonton are and always have been urged as the greatest objection to this place as a point for a bridge either for traffic purposes only or for traffic and railway purposes. By adopting the site chosen by the town, this difficulty both as to a traffic and a railway bridge is overcome, as it cannot be by any other site within four miles of Edmonton at least. On account of the better grades at this crossing, all the heavy freight going south and nearly all going north crosses both in winter and summer, and would still continue to do so by ferry even were a bridge located elsewhere. It is to be hoped that the government will not repeat its Lethbridge experience where a bridge which was built across the Belly river remained unused for years because people could not get to it.

The annual meeting of the Edmonton curling club was held on Thursday evening in Jas. McDonald's real estate office, the president J. A. McDougall in the chair.

The secretary's report was read relating the circumstances connected with last season's curling. The prizes played for were the Hardisty cup, by bonspiel; the president's medal; the Macdonald cup, single handed competition; the district medal, and the patron's medals. For the Hardisty cup eight rinks entered and the trophy was won by a rink comprising T. W. Chalmers, J. H. Picard, St. George Jellett, and Alex. Taylor skip. The Macdonald medal and the district medal were both won by A. Taylor. The president's gold medal was won by a rink comprising J. R. Turnbull, A. M. Campbell, W. G. Ibbotson and F. A. Osborne skip. In the play down by points the medal was won by A. M. Campbell. Challenge match between Taylor's and Osborne's rinks for the patron's championship medals was won by Osborne's rink.

The financial statement showed the assets of the club to be $129.25, against $24.45 liabilities, all but $8.25 of which would be covered by the payment of back dues. Last year's expenses were $105.35.

After the reading and acceptance of the reports the president Mr. McDougall presented the medals which had been won during last season's play.

The election of officers for the ensuing year was then proceeded with and resulted as follows: President, J. H. Picard; 1st vice president, J. R. Turnbull; 2nd vice president, Thos. Bellamy; secretary, treasurer, Jas. McDonald; Committees of management Wm. McKay, J. D. Clark, E. Looby, T. G. Lauder and E. C. Emery.

Representative members in Winnipeg, Messrs A. McDonald and John McKechnie.

Patron, F. Oliver; patroness, Mrs. J. A. McDougall; umpire, James Lauder, senior.

The report of the auditor Rev. D. G. McQueen, that the books were correct was adopted. It was decided to secure a lease of the rink for the coming winter and to sub-let it for skating purposes on all but two days and nights in the week. The committee of management was instructed to find out what arrangements they could make and to report. The annual fee remains to be fixed after the committee reports, but it is likely that it will be about $5.00.

FORT SASKATCHEWAN, ALBERTA.

Mr. Smalley has moved into his new story and a half residence.

The Presbyterians are about to erect a new church, and have chosen a good site.

Mr. Forbes has moved his house from the country to a nice site just outside the town limits.

The want of a flour mill is felt more and more every day—a free site will be given the right man who will build one.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Ross and family, and Mr. John Ross and family have moved into Mr. Lang's house on River avenue.

The new school house was accepted on the 10th instant, from the contractor, and is a credit to the town and builder.

The first man who starts and makes good brick here next spring, will do well, as already several brick buildings are spoken of, including the new church of England.

The citizen's dance, given in honor of "G" troop of the Northwest mounted police, takes place to-morrow evening, in the Town Hall, and promises to be a success, although we are afraid that a number of Edmonton friends will not be present owing to the bad crossing of the river.

Mr. Moret has a cellar dug 25x25, 10 feet deep and stone on hand for the foundation of his large pork packing warehouse, which he purposes establishing in the spring. To-day he is busy erecting his smokehouse, which will be thirty feet high. He expects to commence smoking hams and bacon next week.

His Lordship, the Bishop of Calgary, arrived here on Friday evening last, on his way to Beaver lake, where he held several services, and returned here again on Tuesday evening, accompanied by the Rev. Mr. D'Easum. On Wednesday night they held service here, and immediately after, a meeting was called to arrange the formation of a new parish, which was named "St. George" of Fort Saskatchewan. Messrs A. H. Griesbach and F. C. Van Buskirk were elected minister's and people's wardens respectively, and Messrs G. T. Montgomery, Rudolph Lindow, Hugh E. Irwin and Alfred Karan, were elected vestrymen. It was decided that a resident clergyman would be stationed here in the spring, and that in the meantime only one service every Sunday would be held, as there is no English church building, the intention being to erect one in the spring. Everybody was pleased to see Bishop Pinkham looking so well, and with the friendly manner in which he expressed himself.

MORE BRIDGE.
On Friday the board of trade received the following telegram from the minister of interior in reply to their recent message of enquiry regarding the promised bridge.

OTTAWA, Nov. 15th.
Edmonton.
"Public works report delay is occasioned by conflict amongst your townspeople as to site. Unless this is settled no advance can be made. Surely an agreement can be arrived at as to site."

"T. MAYNE DALY."
On receipt of the telegram a meeting of the council of the board of trade was held and the minister was promptly informed by wire that no conflict as to site existed within the knowledge of the board. He was also asked for the names of those objecting to the site approved by the town council.

GENERAL NEWS.
France is to send 15,000 troops to Madagascar, and will ask the chambers to pass a credit of 65,000,000 francs to prosecute the campaign.
An exchange says when you talk about Ontario being a better country than this, every Manitoba cabbage shakes its head, and every beet gets red in the face, every onion feels stronger, every wheat field is shocked, barley strokes its beard, corn strikes up its ears, and very foot of land kicks. The horses even denounce the statement with a neigh.

The returns for October of the emigration to Canada show a decrease of 160 as compared with September. The total numbers emigrating being 1,203 for the ten expired months ending with October. The total number of emigrants to Canada was 6,621 a decrease as compared with the same period of the preceding year of 7,316. The number of foreigners who shipped at English ports for Canada was 5,748, against 24,866 in 1893.

In Mr. Mallock's latest work in social problems, he emphasizes a factor that is usually ignored in enumerations of what produces wealth. That factor is ability. A man cannot manufacture merchandise without a great expenditure of labor and capital; but by application, industry, alertness and intelligence, he can manufacture a deal of ability; and the ability will soon possess more of less capital. If all the capital of the whole world were distributed equally among socialists to-morrow, in a very short time the possessors of ability would again possess the capital.

As diphtheria is becoming more prevalent every year in London, and doctors have hitherto been seeking in vain for a cure, it is with great satisfaction that news is received from Paris to the effect that the new treatment for the disease has been tried and found successful. In the Paris Hospital for Children, where it was adopted, the mortality in the diphtheria ward at once fell from 51 per cent. to 24. The cure is said to have been discovered by Herr Behring, a German savant. It consists of a preparation composed of the serum, or liquid part of the blood, and is injected much in the same way as vaccine. It is supposed to destroy the microbes by which diphtheria is generated, acting both as a preventative and a cure for the malady.

At Lethbridge on November, 8th, a miner named Ralston was killed at No. 1 shaft. The day men were quitting work and eight of them were making the ascent in the cage when by some means at present unknown, Ralston falling between the cage and wall was crushed and precipitated to the bottom of the shaft, about eighty feet. In falling he caught a young lad named Webster by the coat sleeve and dragged him to the floor of the cage where he was held by another occupant until freed. A falling nail, quickly followed by the body, warned the bottomers and the engines were stopped ere the cage had reached half the ascent of the shaft or about 120 feet. Ralston came about a week ago from Nebraska where he leaves wife and child. An inquest will likely be held.

A recent Ottawa despatch says: There is great activity among the several departments of the government just now in the way of giving out contracts for public works and expending money for improvements. The contract for the improvement of the Lachine canal was recently let. Tenders are being called for improvements on the Trent Valley canal. After a delay of years plans are to be prepared for a new drill hall at Halifax and a new public building at Portage la Prairie. A contract has just been let for the erection of a costly new public building in Vancouver, B.C. Engineers are to be sent to inquire as to the feasibility of dyking the Fraser river. Contractors' claims are being rapidly referred to the exchequer court which always means that the government will offer no serious opposition to a judgment against the crown. All these things and others point unmistakably to a faithful adherence to the old policy in preparing for a general election.

Winnipeg Commercial, Nov. 10: After a long and comparatively mild season cold weather has set in, following a snowstorm on Tuesday which extended all over the country. There has been nothing to interrupt plowing up to Thursday, and the farmers no doubt have a large area of land prepared for crop, which augurs well for next year. The colder weather will start buying in winter lines of goods, and on this account will be acceptable to the trade interested. Grain shipments are still active, though not as heavy as earlier. Cattle export business is being wound up, though there will likely be some further shipments during the next ten days or so. The season shows a large increase all around in live stock exports, particularly from the Manitoba Northwest-ern railway districts. Grain exports will also be the heaviest on record to the close of navigation and the large quantity of wheat already marketed, exceeding 10,000,000 bushels, would indicate that the Manitoba crop will exceed estimation by one to two million bushels. This is quite a pleasing feature of the situation. Payments are improving and a larger business than usual is being done on a cash basis. Winnipeg clearing house returns this week, $1,650,810 are the largest on record.

HIROKIMA, Nov. 1st, '94.
It is reported here to-day in influential quarters that China intends to sue for peace immediately on the basis of Korean independence and payment of an indemnity. The report is generally accepted as true, but this will not affect the large assortment of Fancy Goods, Office Supplies, Stationery, and a new Crepe Tissue Paper for lamps and flowers which has just arrived and which I bought largely at "sacrifice" prices before the war commenced, and I do not buy to keep but to sell.
